MARYLAND JUDICIAL CONFERENCE

Hunt Valley Inn - 9:30 a.m.
Thursday, April 18, 1974

Reported by:
W. P. Banister
we last gathered a year ago, there have been five of our members who have passed away and also a sixth Judge, who, although not a member of this Conference, was a very distinguished Judge in our State.

I would like to first recognize and thank the members of the Resolutions Committee for the work which they did in the preparation of these resolutions. Judge Samuel W. Barrick, Judge J. Hodge Smith, and Judge Lloyd L. Simpkins.

I would like to have these resolutions presented in honor of our deceased members, chronologically in the order in which these members have passed away since our last Conference.

On July 11 of last year former Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, Simon Sobeloff passed away. I would like to ask our very distinguished former Chief Judge Hall Hammond to present a resolution.

JUDGE HAMMOND: Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals died on July 11, 1973, after a long illness. He was seventy-nine years of age.

Judge Sobeloff attended and graduated from the University of Maryland Law School. While attending the University of Maryland Law School, not yet twenty-one years old, he became bailiff and then secretary to Morris A. Soper, then Chief Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. Judge Soper was to be his mentor and close friend throughout their lives. Judge Sobeloff, interestingly enough, was to succeed Judge Soper on the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Sobeloff was admitted to the Bar in 1914, a year before his graduation from law school, a practice which was permissible in those days.

Judge Sobeloff was Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, Solicitor General of the United States, Baltimore City Solicitor, United States Attorney for Maryland and a principal adviser to both Republican Governor and Mayor Theodore McKeldin and Democratic Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Throughout his career, as advocate, prosecutor, and jurist, ran the thread of concern for the rights and privileges of the individual.

Judge Sobeloff was a student of the law and also a vigorous trial lawyer. At home both with abstract principles of law and the use and application of those principles at the trial table and in appellate presentation at all levels, to and including the Supreme Court of the United States.

When Judge Sobeloff was United States Attorney for Maryland, Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, one of Maryland's most distinguished and respected lawyers and ablest jurists, described the performances of his duties with these words in open court:

"Never in my memory has that office been conducted with greater effectiveness and with finer discrimination --"

In a speech delivered on October 15, 1962 at the University of Oregon, Judge Sobeloff said:

"The highest spiritual glory of our Bill of Rights is therefore its insistence upon individual liberty, not as it may be accorded by powerful officials, however gracious, but as commanded by the supreme law of the land. A basic American concept is that the Bill of Rights, along with the Constitution, is fundamental law, binding upon judges, governors and legislators and that is provisions are not, as some have suggested, mere admonitions of moderation."

"Equal Justice Under Law" is emblazoned upon the entrance to the Supreme Court Building. The idea was eembleazoned upon the heart and mind of Judge Sobeloff. He was devoted to the Law and he was dedicated to Justice.

Mr. Chairman, I move that this foregoing memorial tribute be made a part of the permanent record of this Conference and a copy be sent to the family of Judge Sobelof.

JUDGE HAMMERMAN: Will all those in favor of this motion signify by saying aye. It is so ordered.

Two days after the passing of Chief Judge Sobeloff, Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City passed away. I would like myself to offer a resolution in memory of Judge Prendergast.

Whereas, the members of the Maryland Judicial Conference have been saddened by the passing of the Honorable J. Gilbert Prendergast on July 13, 1973, at the age of 63; and
