THE EAST ASIA SUMMIT AND THE REGIONAL SECURITY ARCHITECTURE

Ralf Emmers, Joseph Chinyong Liow, and See Seng Tan*

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION ................................... 2
II. THE EVOLVING SECURITY ARCHITECTURE IN EAST ASIA ......................... 4
Defense Arrangements ........................................... 4
Multilateral Cooperative Institutions .......................... 6
Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) ......................... 6
ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) ..................................... 9
ASEAN Plus Three (APT) ........................................ 11
Asian Cooperation Dialogue (ACD) ......................... 14
“Minilateral” Initiatives ........................................ 14
Northeast Asian Trilateral Summit .................................. 15
Trilateral Security Dialogue (TSD) .................................. 16
Norms and Principles ........................................... 17
Trends in Post-Asian Financial Crisis Regionalism .................. 18
III. THE EAST ASIA SUMMIT: FORMATION AND INSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT .......... 22
EAS Membership and ASEAN Leadership .......................... 27
EAS Expansion: The U.S. Factor .................................... 29
The EAS: What is it for? ........................................ 34
IV. THE EAS AND ONGOING DEBATES ON EAST ASIAN REGIONALISM ............ 37
ASEAN Centrality: Is it Sustainable? ............................... 37
Inclusive versus Exclusive Regionalism ............................. 43
Process versus Outcomes ........................................ 46
V. CONCLUSION: WHAT TO EXPECT FROM THE EAS? ............................. 49
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS .......................... 52

* Ralf Emmers is an Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Multilateralism and Regionalism Program at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. Joseph Chinyong Liow is an Associate Professor and Associate Dean at RSIS. See Seng Tan is an Associate Professor and Head of Research for the Institute of Defense and Strategic Studies (IDSS) at RSIS. The authors wish to acknowledge the support of the MacArthur Foundation Asia Security Initiative, and to thank Joanna Phua for providing research assistance.