

HOW TO INSTALL REMOTE DESKTOP FOR MAC

(using Mac OS Sierra)

Microsoft Remote Desktop is available for download through the Mac App Store.

Go to the icon Dock on your desktop and click the blue "App Store" icon to open it.

The Microsoft Remote Desktop App can be found by clicking here or by going to the Apple Store

<https://itunes.apple.com/us/app/microsoft-remote-desktop/id715768417?mt=12>

Inside the Mac App Store, type "Microsoft Remote Desktop" into the search bar at the top right hand portion of the window.

The option you want is an orange icon with a computer monitor on it. It should be the first option listed.

To begin downloading Microsoft Remote Desktop, click the "Get" button. This app is free, so no price is listed. Once you click on "Get," the button it will turn green and say "Install app." Click the button again.

After this, you can close out of the App Store.

HOW TO INSTALL REMOTE DESKTOP FOR MAC

(using Mac OS Sierra)

To access the Microsoft Remote Desktop app, click the grey "Launchpad" icon in the Dock. Click the Microsoft Remote Desktop app icon to open the app. If you can't find the icon (it will look the same as it did in the App Store), try swiping left. If you have many applications, the Launchpad will have multiple pages.

Once open, you'll need to enable remote access on your PC. To begin, click the "+" icon at the top left of the window.

HOW TO INSTALL REMOTE DESKTOP FOR MAC

(using Mac OS Sierra)

Information needed for this window is as follows:

Connection name = any name you want it to be. For example, "My PC."

PC name = remote1.law.umaryland.edu or remote2.law.umaryland.edu

Gateway = "leave as is"

User name = law\UMID

Password = UMPwd

You may leave the other options as they are.

The Session and Redirection icons are for personal preferences.

When you are finished configuring your remote desktop, click the red close button at the top left of the dialog box and your new remote desktop will be added.

Call the Information Technology helpline at 410-706-5771 or send an email to infotech@law.umaryland.edu for help if needed.